End of Support is defined as the date after which the following support services are no longer available:

- Software availability - download and ordering
- Telephone, email and web support for affected product(s)
 - Customers will be directed to migration product
- Active reproduction of customer-reported issues
- Installation and configuration support
- Technote and application note creation and maintenance
- Issue entry and tracking via issue management tool
- Defect entry. Fixes for unresolved defects will not be pursued nor released in Point or Service Packages, or in a product revision. All unresolved defects must be dispositioned by Intel with agreement from key stakeholders.
- Feature Request entry. All open FRs must be dispositioned by Intel with notification to key stakeholders.

Product Codes being retired and recommended replacement products are listed below.

Migration Path

Customers should migrate to SR 6.1 for Linux (Download only: SR61LINUXDL, MM# 875458 or Download + CD: SR61LINUXDCD, MM# 875364). Please migrate to the recommended products.

Customers choosing not to upgrade are recommended to download the latest service updates containing new features and software fixes before they are removed from support web sites on April 30, 2007. Service updates can be downloaded from:

<http://resource.intel.com/telecom/support/releases/serviceUpdates/index.htm>

Please note:

The list of Boards and Features supported in different system release lines do vary. Customers should select a system release line for migration only after they have compared their feature and board requirements to ensure the line supports the capabilities they require.

Contact your sales representative for additional migration information and/or any issues you may have with this End of Support Plan.
